

Status

Knowledge base: 737 chunks

MCP weather connected

MCP currency connected

Tools: search_travel_kb ,
get_current_weather ,
get_weather_forecast , convert_currency

Reset conversation

Singapore Travel Planning Assistant

Destination knowledge from a curated knowledge base (RAG) · live weather and currency from MCP tools

What are the must-visit attractions in Singapore?

Here are the must-visit attractions in Singapore, categorized by their experiences:

From the knowledge base

- Gardens by the Bay & Marina Bay Sands:
  - Gardens by the Bay: A futuristic park featuring towering Supertrees that mimic real-life trees using solar technology. The outdoor gardens are free to explore, and there is a popular light and sound show at the Supertrees daily at 7:45 PM and 8:45 PM. It is easily accessed via the Bayfront MRT or Gardens by the Bay MRT stations (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Marina Bay).
  - Marina Bay Sands & ArtScience Museum: The iconic integrated resort dominates the skyline. Inside, you can visit the ArtScience Museum, which features the permanent, highly interactive digital art exhibition Future World: Where Art Meets Science (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Marina Bay).
- Singapore Botanic Gardens: Singapore's only UNESCO World Heritage Site. It features tropical flora, walking and jogging trails, a patch of primary rainforest, and outdoor sculptures. It is open daily from 5:00 AM to midnight and is free to enter (accessible via Botanic Gardens MRT or Napier MRT) (Wikivoyage: Singapore/North and West).
- Cultural Neighborhoods:
  - Chinatown: A heritage area filled with restored shophouses, trendy hangouts, and historic temples like the Sri Mariamman Temple (Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide, Wikivoyage: Singapore/Chinatown).
  - Kampong Glam & Bugis: The historic Malay district. Key highlights include conserved shophouses along Arab Street (famous for textiles, batik, and silk) and the trendy, independent fashion boutiques of Haji Lane (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Bugis).
  - Little India: A vibrant, colorful cultural enclave easily accessible via the North-East MRT line (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Sentosa).
- Mandai Wildlife Reserve: Located in the north, this reserve houses world-class wildlife attractions including the Singapore Zoo, Night Safari, Bird Paradise, and River Wonders (Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide).
- Top Indoor Museums:
  - National Museum of Singapore: Features the multimedia Singapore History Gallery, which covers six centuries of the island's history (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Orchard).
  - National Gallery Singapore: Housed in the former City Hall and Supreme Court buildings, it holds the world's largest public collection of Singapore and Southeast Asian art (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Riverside).

Live data

- Current Weather (Observed 20 September 2026, 4:15 PM): The current condition in Singapore is Light drizzle with a temperature of 30.3°C (feels like 35.3°C). The weather is currently flagged as not outdoor-friendly due to the rain (MCP weather server).

My suggestion

Given the current light drizzle in Singapore, I recommend starting your exploration with some of the city's world-class indoor attractions before heading outdoors:

1. Rainy Day Plan (Right Now): Head to the ArtScience Museum at Marina Bay to experience the Future World exhibition, or explore the National Gallery Singapore to admire Southeast Asian art inside a stunning historical building. Both offer excellent shelter and hours of entertainment.
2. Clearing Weather Plan: Once the drizzle stops, make your way to Gardens by the Bay (just a short walk or shuttle ride from Marina Bay Sands) to catch the Supertree light show at 7:45 PM or 8:45 PM. The cooler evening air after a drizzle is perfect for walking around the outdoor gardens.
3. Cultural Walk: Dedicate a morning or afternoon to exploring Kampong Glam (Haji Lane) and Chinatown. They are highly photogenic and offer plenty of covered five-footways (shophouse arcades) to keep you dry if another shower passes through.

---

Sources

- Wikivoyage: Singapore/Marina Bay
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/North and West
- Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/Bugis
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/Chinatown
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/Orchard
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/Riverside
- MCP weather server (Open-Meteo)

> Sources — 18 cited

What are the best ski resorts in Switzerland?

My knowledge base doesn't cover that. My sources are strictly focused on Singapore travel and tourism, so I do not have factual information on Switzerland or its ski resorts.

However, if you are looking for snow-themed activities or winter sports while in tropical Singapore, here is what is available:

From the knowledge base

- Snow City: Located at 21 Jurong Town Hall Road, this is Singapore's first permanent indoor snow centre. It offers visitors a chance to escape the tropical heat to play in snow, go sledding, or take ski and snowboard lessons from certified professional instructors. It also features a sub-zero bar (Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide, Wikivoyage: Singapore/North and West).
- Kallang Ice World: Located at Leisure Park Kallang, this venue offers indoor ice skating (Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide).

My suggestion

If you are planning a ski trip to Switzerland, I suggest visiting the official MySwitzerland (Switzerland Tourism) website or consulting European alpine travel guides, as they will have the most accurate and up-to-date details on resorts like Zermatt, Verbier, or St. Moritz.

If you have any other questions about planning a trip to Singapore—including indoor attractions to beat the tropical heat—I would be happy to help!

Sources

- Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/North and West

› Sources — 5 cited

What's the weather in Singapore right now, and what's the forecast for the next three days?

Here is the current weather update and the 3-day forecast for Singapore, along with tips on how to navigate the city during rainy weather.

Live data

- Current Weather (Observed 20 September 2026, 4:30 PM):
  - Condition: Light drizzle
  - Temperature: 30.6°C (Feels like 35.4°C)
  - Humidity: 66%
  - Outdoor Friendly: No (MCP weather server)
- 3-Day Forecast (20 September – 22 September 2026):
  - Sunday, 20 Sept: Thunderstorm | Max: 31.9°C, Min: 24.5°C | Rain Probability: 99% | Outdoor Friendly: No
  - Monday, 21 Sept: Thunderstorm | Max: 31.8°C, Min: 24.5°C | Rain Probability: 92% | Outdoor Friendly: No
  - Tuesday, 22 Sept: Thunderstorm | Max: 32.0°C, Min: 24.3°C | Rain Probability: 95% | Outdoor Friendly: No (MCP weather server)

From the knowledge base

When thunderstorms hit Singapore, you can take advantage of the city's extensive underground infrastructure to stay dry and comfortable:

- Underground Pedestrian Networks: Singapore has a vast network of air-conditioned underground pedestrian crossings and walkways connecting shopping malls, high-rise office buildings, and MRT stations. Some MRT stations have up to 25 different exits, creating a virtual "city underneath the city" in the downtown core (Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide).
- CityLink Mall: This is an entirely underground shopping mall that links the Riverside district to Suntec City and the Esplanade, running between City Hall MRT and Esplanade MRT stations (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Riverside).
- The MRT System: The MRT (Mass Rapid Transit) is fully air-conditioned, and lines like the North-East, Circle, Downtown, and Thomson-East Coast lines run entirely underground. Note that eating or drinking (even water) is strictly prohibited in stations and trains, with fines up to $500 (Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide).
- Indoor Attractions: If you want a complete escape from the tropical rain, Snow City in Jurong offers a permanent indoor snow center with sledding and snowboarding (Wikivoyage: Singapore/North and West).

My suggestion

With a 92% to 99% chance of thunderstorms over the next three days, you should pivot your itinerary toward indoor-focused activities:

- Utilize the Underground: Plan your shopping and dining around the City Hall / Marina Centre area. You can walk seamlessly underground from City Hall MRT through CityLink Mall to Suntec City or the Esplanade without ever stepping outside into the rain.
- Museum & Gallery Days: Monday and Tuesday are perfect days to visit indoor cultural institutions like the National Gallery Singapore or the National Museum of Singapore. They are fully indoor, highly engaging, and easily accessible via underground-connected MRT stations (like City Hall or Bras Basah).
- Watch the Radar: Thunderstorms in Singapore are often intense but brief. Carry an umbrella, keep an eye on the sky, and use the heavy downpours as an excuse to duck into a local café for some hot Teh Tarik (pulled tea) or Kaya Toast while you wait for the storm to pass.

---

Sources

- MCP weather server (Open-Meteo)*
- Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide*
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/Riverside*
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/North and West*

> Sources — 6 cited

Convert INR 60,000 to SGD.

Here is the currency conversion for your budget:

Live data

- Conversion Rate (As of 18 September 2026):
  - Source Amount: ₹60,000 INR
  - Target Amount: $800.05 SGD
  - Exchange Rate: 1 INR = 0.013334 SGD (MCP currency server)

My suggestion

A budget of approximately $800 SGD is a solid amount for a mid-range trip to Singapore (excluding flights and major accommodation costs). Here is a quick breakdown of how you might split this budget for a 3 to 4-day stay:

- Food (200—250 SGD): This allows you to eat like a king at Singapore's famous hawker centers (where meals cost 5—10 SGD) while still leaving room for one or two nicer meals or drinks at a mid-range restaurant or a rooftop bar.
- Attractions (200—250 SGD): This will easily cover entry tickets to major paid attractions such as the Gardens by the Bay Conservatories (Flower Dome & Cloud Forest), the ArtScience Museum, and a day pass to Universal Studios Singapore or Mandai Wildlife Reserve (Singapore Zoo/Bird Paradise).
- Transport (40—50 SGD): An EZ-Link card or simply using your contactless bank card on the MRT and buses will cost you very little. This budget also leaves room for a few convenient taxi or Grab rides when it rains.

4. Shopping & Souvenirs (250—300 SGD): You'll have plenty left over to buy local souvenirs (like Kaya jam, Prima Taste laksa paste, or Tiger Balm) from Chinatown or Mustafa Centre, or do some light shopping along Haji Lane.

Sources

- MCP currency server (Frankfurter / ECB)*

Create a three-day Singapore itinerary for next week and adjust it according to the weather forecast.

Here is a weather-adjusted, three-day itinerary for your trip to Singapore next week.

Live data

- Weather Forecast (21 September – 23 September 2026):
  - Monday, 21 Sept: Thunderstorm | Max: 31.8°C, Min: 24.5°C | Rain Probability: 92% | Outdoor Friendly: No
  - Tuesday, 22 Sept: Thunderstorm | Max: 32.0°C, Min: 24.3°C | Rain Probability: 95% | Outdoor Friendly: No
  - Wednesday, 23 Sept: Moderate rain showers | Max: 31.5°C, Min: 24.6°C | Rain Probability: 91% | Outdoor Friendly: No (MCP weather server)

From the knowledge base

To keep you dry and comfortable during these three days of high rain probability, this itinerary leverages Singapore's extensive indoor and underground infrastructure:

- Underground Walkways: Singapore's downtown core features an extensive network of air-conditioned underground pedestrian crossings and walkways connecting MRT stations, shopping malls, and office buildings (Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide).
- CityLink Mall: An entirely underground mall that links the Riverside district (City Hall MRT) to Suntec City and the Esplanade (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Riverside).
- Orchard Road Underground: The MRT stations along Orchard Road (Orchard, Somerset, Dhoby Ghaut) are connected to major malls via climate-controlled underground passages, allowing you to shop and dine without stepping outside (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Orchard).
- Indoor Attractions: Major highlights like Jewel Changi Airport (featuring the indoor Rain Vortex), the ArtScience Museum, and the Gardens by the Bay Conservatories (Flower Dome and Cloud Forest) are fully enclosed and protected from the elements (Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide, Wikivoyage: Singapore/Marina Bay).

My suggestion: The Weather-Adjusted 3-Day Itinerary

Since thunderstorms are highly likely every day, this itinerary is designed to keep you indoors or under shelter during peak storm hours, while utilizing underground transit.

Day 1: Marina Bay & Downtown (Underground & Indoor Wonders)

- Morning (Indoor): Start your trip at Jewel Changi Airport. Marvel at the HSBC Rain Vortex, the world's tallest indoor waterfall, and explore the indoor forest canopy. It is

- fully air-conditioned and enclosed, making it the perfect rainy-day start (Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide).
- Afternoon (Indoor): Take the MRT to Bayfront Station. Head directly into the Gardens by the Bay Conservatories (the Flower Dome and Cloud Forest). These massive glass biomes are fully indoor and feature thousands of rare plants and an indoor waterfall (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Marina Bay).
    - Outdoor Alternative (if the rain stops): Walk the outdoor Supertree Grove and catch the Garden Rhapsody light show at 7:45 PM (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Marina Bay).
  - Evening (Sheltered): Head to Lau Pa Sat (near Raffles Place MRT), a historic, Victorian-style indoor hawker center. Enjoy local delicacies like Hainanese chicken rice or satay (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Riverside).
    - Rainy Day Note: If it is pouring, eat inside the Victorian structure. If the rain clears, head to the outdoor Boon Tat Street satay stalls right next to the building (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Riverside).

Day 2: Culture, History & Art (Museum & Heritage Focus)

- Morning (Indoor): Dive into Singapore's history at the National Museum of Singapore (near Dhoby Ghaut MRT) to explore the multimedia Singapore History Gallery, or visit the National Gallery Singapore (near City Hall MRT) to see the world's largest public collection of Southeast Asian art (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Orchard, Wikivoyage: Singapore/Riverside).
- Afternoon (Sheltered): Take the MRT to Chinatown. Have lunch at the Chinatown Complex Food Centre (an indoor hawker center). Try the famous soya sauce chicken or Cantonese desserts like mango pudding at Mei Heong Yuen (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Chinatown).
  - Rainy Day Note: Explore Chinatown by walking along the "five-footways"—the covered pedestrian arcades in front of the historic shophouses that protect you from the rain (Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide).
- Evening (Sheltered): Take the MRT to Clarke Quay. The nightlife and dining district features massive overhead canopies that keep the walkways dry, allowing you to enjoy riverside dining and drinks even during a downpour (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Riverside).

Day 3: Shopping & Underground Exploration (Orchard & CityLink)

- Morning (Underground): Head to Orchard Road. Start at Orchard MRT and explore the massive ION Orchard mall. Use the extensive underground pedestrian network to walk all the way to Somerset MRT and orchardgateway without ever going outside (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Orchard).
- Afternoon (Underground): Take the MRT to City Hall. Walk through CityLink Mall, Singapore's premier underground mall, which connects City Hall MRT to Suntec City (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Riverside). Stop for lunch at Soup Restaurant in Suntec City or Paragon to try their signature Samsui Ginger Chicken (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Orchard).
- Evening (Indoor): End your trip at the Shoppes at Marina Bay Sands (Bayfront MRT). You can ride an indoor canal boat, shop, dine, and visit the ArtScience Museum to see the high-tech, interactive Future World digital art exhibition (Wikivoyage: Singapore/Marina Bay).

---

Sources

- MCP weather server (Open-Meteo)
- Wikivoyage: Singapore Travel Guide
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/Marina Bay
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/Riverside
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/Orchard
- Wikivoyage: Singapore/Chinatown

 We're travelling with two young children and my budget is the INR 60,000 from earlier. Redo day 2 for us.

 Gemini free-tier daily quota is exhausted (20 requests per day, per model — and one turn uses several). Options: wait for the daily reset, set TRAVEL_MODEL to a different Gemini model (each has its own quota), or enable billing on the Google Cloud project behind this key.

Ask about Singapore...